The Washington and St. Louis teams played two games yesterday afternoon in the latter city, the Browns winning the first by the score of 9 to 4, but strange to say the Senators walked away with the second, the figures being 4 to 2.

The St. Louis papers have been calling the Senators hard names all summer, and Capt Delehanty and his comrades doubt-less decided to take a crimp in the Browns' championship aspirations by defeating them yesterday. When last in St. Louis the papers used almost all the disparaging slang names known to the base ball field in describing the work of the Senators, and the "roasting" was felt by the Loftusites when they reached Washington, notwith-"Wait until we get back in that city again," remarked Delehanty recently, "and maybe the St. Louis papers will turn on the Browns when we get through with them. We always have had bad luck in that city, but I'll warrant we will do our best the next time we meet McAleer's

Yesterday's start didn't look as though Debanty's prediction would amount to anything, as the Browns won the first game in hollow style, but the slugging Senator took things in his own hands in the second game and won out unassisted.

St. Louis had made two runs and the Senators none, when the Loftusites went to the bat in the sixth inning. Carey started off with the first hit of the game, but Clarae hit into a double play and another cipher looked probable. Clever Jack Townsend started a rally with a single into left, and Jack Doyle and Lee followed suit, the first-named crossing the plate on the latter's hit. With two on bases "The Only Del" walked to the bat, and doubtless recalling his prediction made in Washington, hawmered the ball into the bleacher seats in left field. The hit was good for a home run, making four runs in all scored in that inning, and the batting rally won the game, right there and then.

first game was a listless sort of affair, the Washington players doubtless suffering from their long ride and loafing on the cars, nearly twenty-four hours being consumed in the journey from Detroit a great deal on his slow curve to win out. The Browns got their eyes on the ball early, but it was toward the close that they commenced to hit for keeps. Kahoe got two singles and a double, Hemphill three singles and "Bobby" Wallace two triples. Back of Orth the Senators played without much life, and Ely had two errors without much life, and Ely had two errors without much life, and Ely had two errors charged against him. Clarke and Orth also slipped up on easy plays.

Donohue did the twirling for the Browns, and was effective enough to keep the hits apart when runners were on the bases. Orth got a double and a single and Delehanty and Carey doubles, but outside of "Albert Edward" not one of the Senators secured more than a single hit.

The Washingtons were lucky enough to do the first scoring, getting a run over the plate in the second inning, the result of Coughlin's single and Carey's good double along the left field foul line. In the fourth the Browns made their first run, tying the score, but the Senators again took the lead in the fifth, making one run. In the seventh the Browns made four runs, the result of several singles and errors by Ely and Clarke, both being wild throws.

In the eighth the McAleer outfit chased three more runs over the plate, making nine in all, and then quit for the day. The Senators managed to score twice in the ininth inning, making four talles in all.

The Second Game.

The lad from Delaware, one Jack Town send, was on the rubber for the Senators in the second game and this time the ex-Quaker had perfect control and of course was effective. Jack gave four bases on balls, but as long as he keeps under a dozen he is all right. But six hits were secured by St. Louis, Heldrick soaking the leather for a triple and a single, the others being for a triple and a single, the others being content with singles. Lew Drill began catching Townsend, but a fast inshoot took all the stiffness out of the ex-Georgetown lad's index finger and he had to retire, Clarke taking his place. Townsend had a world of speed, as usual, and a majority of the Browns were pulling away from the plate like results a material.

world of speed, as usual, and a majority of the Browns were pulling away from the plate like regular amateurs.

Both teams fielded beautifully, many fast and accurate plays being pulled off by both sides, a fumble of a hard hit grounder by Doyle being the only misplay of the game. Neither side scored in the first two innings, but in the third it looked as though the Browns had located Townsend and would bat him out of the box. Burkett secured a base on balls, but Hemphill gave Lee a long fly. Heidrick did better, his long fly sailing over Lee's head for a triple, Burkett scoring. Lee handled the ball well and saved a home run. Anderson sent Lee another fly and this time the Senator held another fly and this time the Senator held another fly and this time the Senator held athe ball, but Heidrick scored on the out. Wallace closed the inning by going out, short to first.

This ended the run-getting of the Browns, Townsend working like a thoroughbred for the remaining six innings. All sorts of tactics were resorted to by the Browns to rattice Townsend, Burkett in particular shouting from the coaching box at every opportunity, but Jack knew he had control, and when he is going well there is nothing to ruffle him. The Browns tried to bunt several times, but Townsend's speed was hard to gauge, and as a result, the ball was generally carried too far and an easy out resulted.

Sudhoff did the twirling for St. Louis and also pitched well, except the one bad inning that cost him the game. "De's" hit proved his undoing in the sixth, and it was the

McGRAW'S GREAT FIND. 'Sandow'' Mertes Signed for New York Club Next Season. A special from Chicago says that advices om New York state that Sandow Mertes, the crack left fielder of the White Stockings, will quit the American League. John J. McGraw made the positive assertion that he had signed Mertes for two years. Mertes signed with the Giants on the last trip of the Chicago club to Washington, where McGraw paid a visit. Mertes' statement is that he will receive more money from Me-

Graw than he ever expected to make in three years in base ball.

Mertes announced early this season that he had plans to join Bill Everett in Colorado Springs as joint partner in the Western League Club. He had a two-year contract with Comiskey that expires at the end of the present playing season.

cause the weather was cool and pleasant and the crowd, though large, was not uncomfortably so.

The most valuable prize of the day was the great filly stake, for two-year-olds, worth in its entirety $16,445, of which the owner of the winner was to receive $13,065.

Nine of the best fillies in training assembled at the start, the race being at six furiongs out of the Futurity course. At the post the caps on the Messrs, Keene's pair, Dazzling and Duster, were changed so as to correspond with the program. The pair were favorites at even money, while Ada Nay was at 3½ to 1, Judith Campbell at 8 and Girdle at 15. The last named was W. C. Whitney's representative. She had shown speed in all her races at Saratoga, and gave indications of improvement each time she ran. Few thought, however, that she would win yesterday's race.

speed in all her races at Saratoga, and gave indications of improvement each time she ran. Few thought, however, that she would win yesterday's race.

Always near the front, Girdle drew away in the last furiong, followed by Dazzling, who two furiongs from home was no better than fifth. That she should have made up at least three lengths in a quarter of a mile would indicate that she is a good filly. Girdle, who won, was only a short head in front of Dazzling, who on her way to the post distinctly nodded, as if she were somewhat tender or sore. For half a mile Judith Campbell, Florite and Love Note were in or near the front.

Six ran in the Dolphin, a stake for three-year olds, worth to the winner $2,450. Again a red-hot favorite was beaten when Whiskey King was defeated half a length by Alfred Featherstone's Igniter, a colt who had not run since the Carliton stakes at Gravesend in May. Prior to that Igniter had shown a good performance in the Belmont stake at Morris Park. Well handled by Shaw, the colt rated behind the pacemaker, Whiskey King, for seven furiongs, then moved up, and though Heno came very fast in the last quarter, Igniter won by half a length, with Whiskey King second, a head in front of Heno, who would have won at a mile and a quarter. The winner was heavily supported, as was Heno. The start for this race was perfect, and the crowd was quick to show appreciation of good work by applauding Mr. Pettingill.

H. S. Page rode a fearless and successful race on his horse, Self Protection, in the Hempstead cup. After the pacemaker, the rapid-going Silent Friend, had tired to nothing, Self Protection moved was filed the footes, the form the boxes as he left the judges' inclosure after weighing in. Howard Gratz fell at the third jump.

By a very small margin Red Knight defeated Africander in the two-year-old handleap, with Joe Cobb third. The latter now runs in the name of the Prospect stable, which is principally owned by William Redern, father of the jockey, The colors of the Prospect stable, which with lotted to him is the handicap which closed the day's proceedings, but he was beaten, though by not more than a length. Heavily backed, Daly passed the pacemaker, St. Finnan, in the last furloag, and won, with vance Guard closing fast in third place,

GRAND CIRCUIT TROTTING. Drivers Geers and Hudson Fined for Laying Up Heats.

Three favorites and a second choice won at Charter Oak Park, Hartford, Conn., yes-terday afternoon, and on two of the events a lot of money was wagered. The judges were hard after drivers that laid up heats. "Ed" (Seers, "Scott" Hudson and W. L. Snow feit the strong arm of the turf law to the extent of $100 each for not driving hard enough in the early heats of their re spective races.

Dan R. was picked for the good thing in the 2:09 pacing race. In the early selling he brought $500. Twinkle, $155; Locanda, $15, and the field, $55. Before the start he brought $200 to $80 for the field. This play just suited the two plungers, George Brunt and "Nick" Hubinger, the former backing Dan R. for $5.000 against the New Haven man's $2,000. Geers and Hudson allowed Shafer to win the first heat with Terrace Queen, while they dropped just inside the distance flag. In the second heat Hudson drove Twinkle hard in the final quarter to beat the daughter of Volpeau, but the latter had the greater brush, and won by a neck, pacing the last quarter in 0.30%. Geers, with Dan R., then took a hand in the struggle, and in the next three heats Dan R., the favorite, was not headed from start to finish, though New Richmond made him pace the final heat in the fastest time of the race.

The 2.13 trotting class was one of the biggest betting races of the meeting. Nutbearer's great winning race at Providence installed him as favorite, with Prince of Orange second choice.

Monte Carlo, a bay gelding from Callfornia, under the control of Monroe Salisbury, who a few years ago campaigned Alix, Directum. Azoto, Direct and Flying Jib, captured the first two heats, with the New York Speedway trotter. The King, a close second. Monte Carlo reduced his record to 2.004. As in the previous race, Geers got ready to move in the third heat, and when he did so Prince of Orange held his field safe at all times. Nutbearer was unreliable, making mistakes in every heat.

Audubon Boy and Duice Cor were easy winners in their races. The pacer won $900 of the $1,500 purse offered in the 2.04 race, under the heat dash system. Dan R. was picked for the good thing in RACING TRUST STORY DENIED. Gates and Drake Emphatically Contradict Tale From the West.

John W. Gates and John A. Drake denied in most emphatic terms yesterday in New York the story from Chicago to the effect that they were interested in the formation of a racing rust, the object of which was to extending from New York to San Francisco. Mr. Gates sailed for Europe on the Ma jestic yesterday, and a reporter saw him at

"Do you know Clem Creveling and Henry Harris, who say they're your St. Louis Harris, who say they're your St. Louis agents?"

"I tell you the whole story is false!"

John A Drake was at Sheepshead Bay busily collecting forfeits from his beaten rivals in the Futurity, when asked his side of the story. He laughed aloud and said:

"It's all rot. I never read such nonsense in my life before. Why, I have not even dreamed of such a scheme.

"As for the match race, that is out of the question. Savable has not been in fit condition to race since the Futurity. For two days after his race he was so sore and lame that he could scarcely put his foot to the ground. He has just resumed taking exercise. There will not be any match race with Savable in it."

Champion's New World Record.

Albert Champion established a new world's record for twenty-five miles at the covering the distance in thirty-four minutes and thirty-three seconds and giving Stin-son the worst beating he has ever had. He led Stinson by seventeen lans. In the He led Stinson by seventeen laps. In the paif-mile handicap J. J. McKinnon of Boston was first. In the ten-mile open Marcus Hurley of New York was the winner.

Senators close in St. Louis today and hen move on to Chicago for four games. Townsend's speed, coming after Orth's ow ones, was too much for the Browns. Manager Loftus was reported to be in Milwaukee yesterday trying to s'gn Third Baseman Cockman and Pitcher Altrock. The latter has pitched fine ball for Billy Clingman this season.

The Athletics are doing better than expected, and let no easy tricks slip by. Detroit isn't much, but a victory counts just as much from them as any one else, and Conny Mack needs the games.

Rain at Chicago yesterday knocked out he game scheduled between the Bostons and White Sox. A double-header will be played today.

McGraw's efforts to secure players reminds one of the familiar story of the mountain and the mouse. He has boasted of securing many stars, and now it has simmered down to "Sandow" Mertes, a simmered down to "Sandow" Mertes, a player whom Manager Griffith wasn't particular about signing for next season.

Peace in base ball and disarmament in Europe will likely be pulled off about the same time.

The stuff they sometimes give race horses might be good for the tired Orioles. Are there any rules against doping in base ball? Say, how would an electric saddle work on the birdlings?—Baltimore Herald.

Tacks Latimer, who is helping out the Brooklyns behind the bat, has had a varied career in the major and minor leagues. He played with New York several years ago. Tacks is full of spice and ginger, even if he is not the best catcher in the business. Heidrick's return to St. Louis has braced the Browns wonderfully. Their nine straight victories have enabled them to make up almost all the ground they lost on the recent disastrous eastern trip.

The Chicago Nationais were shut out by Brooklyn yesterday. Morrisey, the new Chicago pitcher, did very well for a first performance in a big league game. The feature of the game was Keeler's running catch of Slagle's low line drive, which the Brooklyn captain scooped in with his bare hands.

Cleveland is coming with a rush. The is acting as an agent of the American League.

Heavy pressure is being brought to bear upon Plicher Willis. American League agents have been after him hot and heavy and the National League club has spared no effort to induce him to get into line. Willis has absolutely refused to declare himself or say anything about his destination for next season other than that he will play in Boston next season. It is known that Jimmy Collins remained behind to have a talk with Willis and this is taken to mean that he will play with the Boston American team. Collins was seen, but said he had nothing to say about the matter other than that there was a place open for Willis on the Boston American League team if he cared to accept and he had Willis' word that he would play with the Boston American League team if he cared to accept and he had Willis' word that he would play with the Boston American League team if he did not play with the Nationals.

Scarcely had the party arrived when the farmers' telephone was brought into service, and the news was spread broadcast, and when preparations had begun for shooting chickens the entire prairie was alive with farmers patrolling the fields and posting notices forbidding trespass.

"Because he was a son of the President," said Vice President Mccullough of the Northwestern railroad, "these populists, who might well be classed as anarchists, early exhibited a disposition to make our stay unpleasant. So far as our official party was concerned, we would have asked nothing better than a brush with these hay-seeds, but the boy understood little of the insults that were offered his father through him, and we thought it best to move away to a location where they were proud of the fact that a son of the President was with them.

"Near Arlington, while "Teddy" was out on the prairie, he sought a drink of water at a farm house, and the dogs were set upon him. The guide, however, put a stop to this unkindness by threatening to shoot both dogs and masters."

Another member of the party, an official of the Northwestern road, who arrived in St. Paul tonight, said that the real hostility to young Roosevelt was concealed from him, and the train was moved by President Hughit's orders for the purpose of bringing him into a section of country where he would be welcomed.
